

LION LOWDOWN

Honors

Honors students have the advantage of a distinguished learning environment, enhanced resources, a strong community to support them, and special recognition designed to help them achieve academically and grow into well-rounded individuals

Course Opportunities

Each semester, the Honors Program offers a selection of required courses specifically designed for its students. These designated courses (such as Honors Forum, Service Learning, and Research Seminar) are capped at fifteen students to ensure Honors students have more one-on-one time with their professors, emphasizing a discussion-oriented classroom

FIRST-TIME STUDENTS, must have a:

3.7
GPA

28
or better on the ACT

TOP 10%
of graduating

"My favorite aspect of the Honors Program has definitely been the Honors classes. At first, I was intimidated by taking them, but they have ended up being the best classes I have taken in college. I love the small classes, working individually with professors, and having familiar faces in class."

-Holly Boles, Honors Graduate
